Tell me about Philmont!

The Philmont Scout Ranch is a national camping area, owned and operated by the Boy Scouts of America and was formerly known as the Waite Phillips Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico. Philmont is the jewel of the high adventure camps comprising 137,493 acres or about 215 square miles of rugged mountain wilderness in the Sangre de Cristo (Blood of Christ) range of the Rockies. Philmont's high mountains, which dominate rough terrain and range in elevation from 6,500 to 12,441 feet, offer that High Adventure Scouting experience that you've been waiting for at 32 staffed camps and 50 unstaffed camps.

Since Philmont's first camping season in 1939, more than 650,000 Scouts, Explorers, Venturers and their leaders have participated in the rugged challenge of its backpacking program.

Participants Must Be:

- in top physical condition,
- at least 14 years of age by Jan. 1 or have completed the eighth grade
- are registered members of the Boy Scouts of America.

Crews are organized with 7-12 Scouts and leaders, which include at least two but not more than four adults. Participants hike Philmont's mountains for ten full days, spending nights at various backcountry camps. At staffed camps, crews can participate in a variety of programs presented by Philmont backcountry staff. Among these programs are:

- horseback riding
- burro packing
- gold panning
- rock climbing
- 30.06 rifle shooting
- archaeology
- mountain biking
- interpretive programs such as homesteading and mountain man rendezvous.
